

AMERICAN COLOR PRINT SOCIETY

was founded in 1939 in Philadelphia, PA. At that time, the typical print was a black and white etching, with very little chance of a color print passing a jury. In 1940, 85 artist members staged the first National Color Print Exhibition at the Philadelphia Print Club, now The Print Center. This opened printmaking to color and allowed for the experimentation that is part of our tradition today.

ACPS MEMBERSHIP enables you to exhibit in an annual members' show, as well as periodic open shows. Dues are $40.00 per year, due each January. Members receive the newsletter, The Color Proof. Meetings are held periodically to take care of society business, arrange for exhibitions, occasionally meet with visiting printmakers and collectors, or make visits to print collections or print studios.

SELECTION OF NEW MEMBERS:

Artists who have participated in juried shows are eligible for membership. For full details of the application process, check our website at

HELP US SPREAD OUR WINGS

This is the first of our exhibitions outside of the Philadelphia area. We encourage all members to participate and support this exhibition. ACPS is a national organization of printmakers, so why not show our work nationally. If you think you can get us a show in your home area, let us know. We'll work with you to organize it, manage it, promote it, run it. Usually, 50 or more artists participate in our exhibitions. So if you have an idea for a show in your area, please get back to us and contact Carole Meyers at caroleline@verizon.net.
